Strengthening NAPS' Presence in Washington

The 2018 LTS will focus on the three routes in Washington for strengthening NAPS presence in Washington, even amid the distractions of a mid-term election year. Those three routes are the White House, the Congress and the Postal Regulatory Commission. Each of these institutions could bear important impact on USPS and postal policy in the coming months. This year's LTS will orient NAPS delegates on the Trump-Congress-PRC impacts, along with the state of postal reform and civil service benefit reduction threats. Prior to stepping on to Capitol Hill, LTS delegates also will learn about the key ingredients for successful meetings with Members of Congress and staff. Through their participation in this year's LTS, first-timers and veteran LTS delegates alike will strengthen NAPS' presence in Washington.
