Dear Mr. Butts:

As a matter of general interest, the Postal Service has become aware that certain Postal Police Officer (PPO) managers who opted to use Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA) leave last year were not properly paid. Because of the very short window for implementing FFCRA leave and the payroll coding and programming requirements, some PPO managers were not paid in accordance with the FFCRA regulations. Programming issues caused payment issues in both directions, with some employees paid in excess of the statutory caps while others were underpaid.

There were 21 PPO managers who were underpaid. We anticipate those employees will receive the pay they are owed as part of their December 10 paychecks. We did not set thresholds for repayment to the PPOs who were unpaid, so even employees and former employees owed less than $1 will receive payment.

We have enclosed a list of the 21 affected managers who will see adjustments in their December 10 check.

Please contact Janet Peterson at extension 5127 if you have questions concerning this matter.

Sincerely,
