UNITED STATES POSTAL SERVICE

September 17, 2019

Mr. Brian J. Wagner
President
National Association of Postal Supervisors
1727 King Street, Suite 400
Alexandria, VA 22314-2753

Dear Brian:

This is in further reference to our previous correspondence concerning the deployment of Narcan nasal spray. As part of our continuing efforts concerning this project, we plan to distribute Narcan kits to all Level 21 and 22 post offices beginning the week of October 14. All EAS employees in these facilities must complete Narcan training through HERO before October 11.

We have enclosed a list of offices to which Narcan will be deployed and a stand-up talk that will be provided to employees in these facilities.

Please contact Bruce Nicholson at extension 7773 if you have any questions concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

By Alan S. Moore

Narcan nasal spray distribution

The Postal Service is committed to keeping its employees and customers safe.

To strengthen our existing safety protocols, we will be distributing Narcan Nasal Spray to this location. Narcan is a medication that can reverse the effects of accidental exposure to, or an overdose of, an opioid drug.

To be clear, we should always call 9-1-1 for all emergencies. Narcan spray is being made available to give employees the ability to respond immediately in the event of suspected exposure at work, until medical first responders arrive. And remember — The Inspection Service's "Package. People. Plan." protocol remains our basis for handling all suspicious mail.

In our facility, all management and supervisory employees, as well as all facility emergency responders — such as Medical Emergency Response Teams, or MERT — must take the USPS HERO training on how to administer Narcan.

There will be a 5- to 10-minute training session at our facility, scheduled for (dates/times/location). For those employees with ACE computer IDs, the training is also available in the HERO learning system on the intranet, Blue.

The District Occupational Health Nurses are the point of contact for our Narcan program. You can reach that office by email at <Occupational Health Services + District name or give name of contact>.

The Postal Service is deeply concerned about the nation's opioid crisis and is committed to taking all possible measures to ensure employees are safe and the U.S. Mail is secure.

Thank you for listening.
